Sociology National and Regional Awards

Southwestern University sociology majors have won a number of national and regional undergraduate paper awards. In 2006, we started nominating student papers for national and regional awards. Since then, many of our sociology majors have won the national Alpha Kappa Delta undergraduate paper award (first, second, or third place), a number of our majors have won the Southern Sociological Society's Odum Award for best undergraduate paper, and a few majors have received other outstanding undergraduate paper awards.
